

Abstract

A space-saving electrical contact assembly for a hearing instrument faceplate can be fashioned by physically conforming the configuration of individual contacts to the battery and the battery door in the faceplate. By 5 providing each contact of the assembly with an interconnected terminal, the wiring of the assembly is reduced.

10092685-030702